Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Starts In City Despite Cold Wet Weather

MEMBERS OF THE YOUNG BUSINESSMEN'S club of Washington C. H. got off to a sweeping start in the activities of the annual Paint-Up, Clean-Up Week when a group of them formed a broom brigade on Main Street in front of the Court House Saturday and swept the street. Shown above are three members, decked out in fancy aprons making a clean sweep of the street. Hal Summers, chairman of the Paint-up, Clean-up Week committee, is at the left. Dick Arnett (center) seems to be cleaning off the white stripe in the middle of the street while Richard Willis, Jr. (right) bears down on a cigarette butt.

Well, Clean-up, Paint-up and Fix-up Week today is under way in Washington C. H.

It got off to a start with a preliminary ballyhoo that was both good and bad, neither through any fault of the Young Business Men's group which is sponsoring the event again this year.

Saturday morning's whoop-de-do went off just about as planned. A group of the YBM members turned up on schedule to show a clean-up in a big way by sweeping a portion of Main Street, between Court and Market streets.

That was not primarily to clean the street; rather it was to inspire the people with the clean-up spirit through a public demonstration.

While some of the members, all diked out in aprons and armed with brooms, were working on the street, Hal Summers, the chairman of this year's campaign, and Jack Coffee, a past president of the YBM, chided the sweepers and told about the purposes of Cleanup, Paint-up and Fix-up Week to the gathering of curious through a loud speaker system.

A small portion of the WHS band provided a bit of inspirational music for the sweepers and attracted the crowd.

ON THE DISAPPOINTING side of the preliminary program was the weather which forced a postponement of Sunday's free house painting until next Sunday.

A committee of Summers, Dr. Charles Griffiths and Dave Looker had made all the arrangements for the YBM members to paint the home of Mrs. Alice Taylor, 505 East Elm Street, Sunday, but the steady drizzle of rain prevented carrying out the plan.

Mrs. Taylor, the committee found, is a widow and lives on a pension, and has the respect of all her neighbors. They considered her worthy of the house painting project.

The point is to be furnished by several dealers in the city and YBM crew is to do the work. The same sort of project was carried out last year.

Meanwhile, in spite of the handicaps imposed by the weather, the clean-up campaign got underway according to plan.

City trucks were making the rounds of the first ward Monday picking up rubbish and trash (no garbage) left at the curb in suitable containers. There was no check on how business is. Tuesday trucks will make the pick-up in the second ward; on Wednesday in third ward and Thursday the fourth ward.

For those who fail to get their rubbish collections on the curb in time for the regular pick-up, the YBM has arranged to make special truck trips. All that is necessary to get the truck return is a call to 33031, Summers said.

On Wednesday, the pupils in the city schools are to bring back the questionnaires they left at home last week. When they are filled out by their families, the YBM will give citations for good citizenship to those who completed their clean-up, fix-up and paint-up.

3 Feared Killed In Barge Blast

NEW ORLEANS, May 12—(AP)—Three men were believed killed in a gasoline barge explosion that sent billowing black smoke over the Mississippi River and caused damage estimated at $650,000.

The three men have been missing since the blast occurred around dawn Sunday. The blast, whose origin has not been determined, destroyed one barge, a floating dock and damaged heavily a tug.

Tie Vote in Election Here Broken When Disputed Ballots Are Counted

The tie vote for Republican county central committeeman in the third ward, this city, in the recent primary election, between Glenn Rodgers and Richard Willis, Jr., has been settled with Willis being officially declared the winner by a vote of 173 to 170.

The matter was decided by the Fayette County Board of Elections at its meeting Saturday when it ordered that three disputed ballots, which had been thrown out by the precinct election officials, should be counted.

The county election board met Saturday for its official canvass of the county's entire vote and approval of the report to be sent to the secretary of state in Ohio.

There were no other questions of the same nature as the Willis-Rodgers committeeman vote, to be decided.

The first act in deciding this committeeman tie vote was for the board to inspect any ballots which had been thrown out and not counted by the election officials of the precincts in the third ward where the unofficial returns indicated that the tie existed between Willis and Rodgers.

Three ballots were up for inspection on which a question had been raised. The board found that the vote for committeeman on these three clearly showed the intent of the voters on committeeman. All were marked for Willis. Their rejection by precinct election officials had been based on improper marking for other candidates. The board unanimously decided that the ballots should be counted where there was no question as to the intent of the voter on an office, but could not be counted in the case of candidates where improperly marked. Clark Reports On Release Of General Dodd

Negotiations Made Under 'Duress', New Allied Chief Says

SEOUL, May 12—(AP)—Officials for the United Nations, explaining the release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd who had been kidnaped by North Korean prisoners of war, indicated here Monday night that "agreements" with the Communists may not be honored.

The general, who told correspondents in a formal statement of some of his experiences after having been grabbed by the Communists, declared the Koreans had threatened to kill him if the U. S. Army tried to rescue him by force.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, new supreme United Nations commander in the Far East, said in Tokyo that the Red POWs were granted some "minor concessions. But he seemed to hint they would not be honored.

Clark listed the ransom demands by North Korean prisoners on Koho Island—and told which demands were acceded to in order to secure Dodd's release.

CLARK'S statement said Brig. Gen. Charles Colson, new commander of the POW camp, agreed to:

1. Do all within his power to eliminate future violence and bloodshed on Koho. Ninety POWs and one American guard were killed in two Koho POW riots in February and March.

2. Stop "forcible screening or any rearming of prisoners of war in this camp" and not make any attempt "at nominal screening."

Allied officers have been screening prisoners of war and civilian internees to determine whether they would resist being returned to North Korea or China after an armistice. What was meant by "rearming" was not explained.

3. Allow the organization of a POW representative group or commission consisting of North Korean and Chinese prisoners.

Clark said: "The reply by General Colson to the Communist prisoners was made under duress at a time when the life of General Dodd was at stake. The Communist demands were unadulterated blackmail and any commitments made by General Colson as a result of such demands should be interpreted accordingly."

DODD READ a statement to correspondents saying he was convinced the UN Command threats to use force "had a decided effect" in obtaining his release Saturday night.

The correspondents were not permitted to question the general. It was the first time they had been allowed to see him.

Dodd said he was well treated by the Reds while a captive in Compound 76 on the island—the UN No. 1 camp for tough prisoners.

The general said demands made by the prisoners in exchange for his release were "inconsequential" and that concessions granted by the camp authorities were "of minor importance."

Newsmen were permitted to visit Koho Monday for the first time since the Wednesday seizure of Dodd, then prison camp commander there.

Clark said a full investigation of "the violent and treacherous kidnaping of General Dodd and the circumstances surrounding the negotiations and his ultimate release" is underway.

Three Major Crashes Near Here Sunday

FAILURE TO READ A SIGN like the one plainly visible in the above photo, caused an accident Sunday on Highway 22 at the Bogus Road intersection about three miles east of Washington C. H. Harry Wolfe of Fayette County, driver of the above car, was cited by Patrolman M. E. Brickles for failing to stop at the highway. The car which rammed the Wolfe car was driven by Mrs. Venita Bennett of Dayton who was taken to Memorial Hospital in a Kirkpatrick ambulance. She was found to have a broken collar bone and lost a number of her front teeth. She was the only injured one in the accident. (Record-Herald photo)

ALTHOUGH THINGS LOOK TOPSY-TURVY in the above photo, the car belonging to Ralph Bennett of Marion was not too badly damaged and all but one of the occupants escaped injury Saturday afternoon. Bennett told officers he skidded into a ditch five miles south of here on Highway 35 in an attempt to avoid hitting the skidding tailend of a trailer truck. Mrs. George Moore of Columbus was taken to Memorial Hospital in a Gerstner ambulance for treatment of minor injuries. Neither Mr. or Mrs. Bennett were injured. (Record-Herald photo)

Oil Workers Tighten Strike

WSB Parley Tuesday May Bring Accord

TOLEDO, May 12—(AP)—The CIO Oil Workers Union has decided to tighten its nationwide strike in eight Midwest states.

International union representatives from Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana and Minnesota met here Sunday to discuss strike strategy.

They said they would try to "tighten up picketing at all points where it may be legal to do so."

In Cleveland, the union withdrew pickets from a lubricating oil refinery of the Standard Oil Co. The pickets stayed on, however, at two of Sohio's gasoline refineries, one here and one at Cleveland.

Meanwhile, striking oil workers and company officials got ready for Tuesday's showdown meeting with the Wage Stabilization Board. The government goal: To halt the nationwide strike with its worldwide effects.

THE UNITED STATES and Britain asked all nations to conserve dwindling supplies of aviation gasoline. They warned global restrictions may follow.

Military flying is down to essentials. More civilian flights are suspended each day. Motorists are feeling the growing pinch.

O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers International, largest of the 22 unions striking for higher wages, flew to Washington Sunday to prepare for the meeting called by the WSB.

Knight has said that, after months of postponement before the walkout started 13 days ago, the striking refinery and pipeline workers are determined not to work without a contract. There was no sign they had changed their stand.

Scattered agreements have been signed through the industry. But the first major agreement which union officials conceded might set a settlement pattern was OK'd by workers Sunday.

It is between the Independent Union of Petroleum Workers and Standard Oil of California. It provides a basic wage increase of 18½ cents an hour. That's the compromise figure Knight said would be acceptable instead of the 25-cent raise sought originally on the current $2 to $2.10 hourly rate.

Fall Into Acid Tank Kills Man

LANSING, Mich., May 12—(AP)—A 50-year-old man fell into a tank of hot sulphuric acid at the Oldsmobile forge plant here Sunday and died within seconds.

An employee of the Industrial Window Cleaning Co. of Lansing, the victim was identified as Leo Cunningham, believed to be from Pittsburgh. He lost his footing on a scaffold 18 feet above the pickling tank and fell through a maze of conveyor belts and tubes into the liquid which is kept at 160 degrees.

Car Banged Up But Only One Is Painfully Hurt

Sheriff Orland Hays investigated three traffic accidents over the weekend, the state patrol one, and the Washington C. H. police two.

The first accident investigated by Sheriff Hays was Saturday afternoon on route 35, five miles southeast of Washington C. H., when a car driven by Ralph S. Bennett of Marion was wrecked to avoid crashing into a skidding trailer of a semi-trailer outfit on a curve.

Bennett escaped injury. Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. George Moore, the latter of Columbus, sustained painful injuries, and were taken to Memorial Hospital, in the Gerstner ambulance, where they were treated and released. The Bennett car was not badly damaged.

Another plenary session was scheduled for Tuesday. But Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior UN delegate, told the Reds the UN Command "formally disassociates itself from the propaganda purposes for which you are utilizing these meetings."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il delivered the blast at the UN Command. It was studied with Red accusations that the Allies mistreated Red prisoners of war.

He asked that this amount, taken from the special Eymann fund, would be used in a fund now being raised for development of a city park, on land now owned by the city, located between Oakland Avenue and Millikan Avenue. The commission proposes to make this 16 acre tract into a city park for picnics, playgrounds and other recreational facilities.

The county commissioners reserved their decision on the matter until a later date pending some investigation.

SPRAYING to kill weeds along county highways is to start this week, according to a report to the commissioners from County Engineer C. P. Wagner Monday.

He stated that a total of 288 miles of county roadways are to be given three applications of spraying of weed destroying material during the summer by county highway crews.

COUNTY TREASURER Charles Fabb asked the commissioners Monday for authority to apply to the state tax commission for an extension of time on collection of the second half of 1951 real estate taxes, which is to begin June 20.

This collection ordinarily would end in July but the county treasurer will ask the state board for an extension to August 15.

This same action has been taken on a number of other occasions.

Allies Say Reds Stalling In Parley

MUNSAN, May 12—(AP)—The United Nations Command Monday sharply accused the Communists of using the Korea armistice talks for a propaganda sounding board.

A UN communique said the Reds fired "their most vicious propaganda attack of the 10-month-old armistice negotiations" in a 34-minute "tirade, obviously prepared in advance" and "filled with invective, distortions and palpable lies."

Another plenary session was scheduled for Tuesday. But Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior UN delegate, told the Reds the UN Command "formally disassociates itself from the propaganda purposes for which you are utilizing these meetings."

B-29s hit the Huichon rail bridge Sunday with 90 tons of bombs. Fighter-bombers cratered rails in more than 80 places on a small section south of Suncheon at the same time.

Schools Allotted Lunch Money At Meeting of Commissioners

The Washington C. H. schools were granted an appropriation of $755.20 by the Board of Fayette County Commissioners Monday to help meet a deficiency of $1137.67 in the serving of over 30,000 school lunches to pupils during the present school year.

The money comes out of a special Eymann fund under the control of the commissioners.

Last week the commissioners granted the rural and village schools in the county school system approximately $3,200 to help with school lunch deficits in 10 of the county school districts. This amount represented slightly more than 40 percent of the deficit.

SUPT. STEPHEN BROWN and Fred Rost, business manager and clerk of the board of education for the city schools, appeared Monday morning before the county commissioners at their regular session and presented their school lunch program figures with a request for aid.

The city school report showed that 6,052 free school lunches were served to deserving children out of a total of over 30,000 served. The commissioners allowed the city schools 10 cents per meal on the free lunches, plus $150. This was the same basis on which appropriations were made on deficits in the county school districts.

Increased costs of food purchased and much less receipt of free federal commodities, as compared with former years, was announced as the cause for deficits in the programs of both city and county schools.

Nam Il again flatly rejected Joy's proposal for an indefinite recess until the Communists have something concrete to offer.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, UN spokesman, said the Reds have instructions to insist on continuing the talks and "to utilize them entirely for a propaganda sounding board. This appears to be a course of action."

The talks are tightly deadlocked over the exchange of prisoners. Meanwhile, UN warplanes blasted the North Korean rail network with another of their new saturation bombings designed to make track repairs as tough as possible for the Reds.

Some board members think the present scale has some lumps in it, with down payments increasing out of proportion to the price on homes of $15,000 and above.

These members say one-third down would be an adequate requirement for the highest-priced homes. Starting downward from this point, they would install a lower and more even scale of down payment requirements until they approached the present scale at about $15,000 class.

We can't vouch for this story, but if it didn't happen it's still a good story.

The other day a telephone receptionist at one of the large plants here answered a hurried call from the wife of one of the employees.

The excited wife asked if she could talk to her husband, but the receptionist told her that unless it was an emergency, the policy of the plant was to only deliver a message.

"It is sort of an emergency," the wife replied, "but you can deliver the message." "Tell him not to drink the coffee in his lunch," she said.

She told the receptionist that she was cleaning out the coffee pot she used for making her husband's lunch coffee that she had found a book of matches in the pot.

"I thought I'd better call him and tell him not to drink the coffee. It might make him sick," she said.

Just how the matches got in the pot remains a mystery.

The message was delivered.

Eighth Grade Pupils To Visit WHS Tuesday

Close to 225 eighth grade pupils from both the city and county schools will be given a preview of what they can choose in the way of a high school education during the orientation program for them in the Washington C. H. High School auditorium Tuesday.

Approximately 165 eighth graders are to come from the junior high school in Washington C. H. and between 60 and 70 from six county schools. They will get an idea of which of the seven offered types of courses they may take in high school.

Five vocational courses are offered in the high school here, one academic and one general course from which the students may choose.

Mrs. Wayne Woodyard will tell something about the home economics course which will appeal to a large percentage of girls.

Miss Gladys Melson will discuss the business education courses, Paul Prichard will tell of the work done in the auto mechanics courses and G. B. Vance will tell of the industrial arts courses.

Gordon Ryder will discuss the training and types of courses in vocational agriculture offered by the high school.

There will also be a discussion on the different classes offered which will prepare those students planning to attend college following graduation from high school.

For those who have not yet made up their minds on the type of training they prefer, there is also a general course offered at the high school.

E. Wayne Titus, principal of the high school, will welcome the new students and introduce the different speakers.

The students will not make out any schedules or preferences during the meeting, but will wait a week or so and complete their choices of courses with the aid of their eighth grade teachers.

The rural schools that will be sending students to the meeting are Chaffin, Eber, Wilson, Marion, Jasper and Staunton.

among the precinct officials by statements heard by radio previous to election day to the effect that there could not be any write-in candidates for the delegates to the national conventions.

The action of the board in declaring Willis the winner for the third ward Republican committee-manship thus settles an interesting contest which probably caused more public comment in this city than any other local contest.

Officials of the precinct where the ballots had been rejected were called in, the matter explained, and apparently everybody was satisfied.

In addition to these three Republican ballots which were officially tabulated by the board's order, in the contests where the voters intentions were definite, there were two Democratic ballots considered by the board. The counting of these in no way affected any results among Democratic candidates.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, May 12—In the steel dispute, which was being argued Monday, the U. S. Supreme Court can do several things without deciding flatly on the basic question before it: The constitutional limits on a President.

Usually the court doesn't hand down a single, flat opinion on broad constitutional questions. Instead, it decides specific issues which may be part of a broad problem without running head-on into the problem itself.

For example, this court has handled a case after case involving the wide question of segregation of Negroes. It has never ruled on whether segregation as a whole is good, bad, constitutional or unconstitutional.

It has ruled on specific examples of segregation brought before it. It has said Negroes must not be forced to ride in the rear of buses crossing state lines.

And it has so ruled Negroes now are admitted to white graduate schools in the South without saying Negroes had to be admitted to white high and grammar schools.

WHEN IT GOT a case involving graduate schools, it limited its ruling to graduate schools.

And, without giving an opinion of any kind, the court can send the steel dispute back to the U. S. Court of Appeals or even to district Judge David Pine for more arguments or findings. It was Pine who said the President exceeded his power in seizing the mills and ordered them given back.

If it wants to give an opinion, the court could do so quickly. Perhaps in days. Maybe in weeks. Or it could delay its opinion. If it was long delayed a steel settlement might then make an opinion unnecessary.

The problem that goes to the court as the heart of the steel dispute is this:

Does the President have special built-in but invisible powers giving him authority to seize private property when he says he is acting for the general welfare in an emergency?

Nothing in law or the Constitution says specifically he has such a right. At the same time, nothing in the Constitution says he doesn't. The Justice Department lawyers representing President Truman don't argue anymore—as they did before Judge Pine, who turned them down—that there are no limits on a President's power.

IN THEIR BRIEF filed with the court last week they said:

"We contend only that in a situation of national emergency the President has authority under the Constitution, and subject to constitutional limitations, to take action of this type necessary to meet the emergency."

This is the theory of inherent powers: That there is plenty of power, not written out in ABC fashion in the Constitution for any President to draw upon for the nation's good.

While this represents the big problem before the court, there are a number of issues which, while related to the main one, could be settled by the court without tackling the main one.

New Physician Located Here

Dr. Jack O. Stoffel to Open Office June 1

A new physician, Dr. Jack O. Stoffel, will open his office for general practice in Washington C. H., on June 1.

Dr. Jack O. Stoffel

Dr. Stoffel with his wife Betty, and two small children, a son Philip, aged two and a half, and a daughter, Suzanne, seven months, are already getting established in their new home, the Charles Mark residence, 323 East Court Street, which he leased. He will have his office at his home.

Some time was spent by the Stoffel family in finding a desirable community in which to locate and start practice after Dr. Stoffel was released from the U. S. Navy April 1, this year, following his 39 months of service.

The physician and his wife traveled through several states to seek a small modern city in a good rural county. They both fell in love with Washington C. H. and its surroundings and promptly made a decision to make this place their home.

Dr. Stoffel is a native of Chicago, although he is a graduate of the College of Medicine at Ohio State University. After graduation he did his internship in Grant Hospital at Chicago, but never wanted to practice in a large city.

After finishing his interne work he was called into the U. S. Navy, part of his service being in hospitals and part on shipboard with the Military Sea Transportation Service.

Mrs. Stoffel is a native of Virginia but for a number of years lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Turner at Portsmouth in this state.

Dr. Stoffel is an alert young physician who comes to this community highly recommended by professional associates. He possesses a very pleasing personality and already has made many friends here.

We're Saving More, So Says Loan League

WASHINGTON, May 12—Americans as individuals are saving more and more money despite inflation and heavy consumer buying. The National Savings and Loan League reports that money invested in the major types of savings agencies increased 24 percent from 1946 to the end of 1951.

At the start of this year, the league reported, individuals had $180 billion invested. This is apart from commercial investments.

Biggest increase in savings over the five-year period was 88.1 percent by savings and loans associations. With a total of $16 billion invested at the start of 1952, this type of agency rated fifth in total of money.

Too Many People Still Favor Big Spending

It is rather astonishing to listen to the comment of many people even here in Washington C. H., and among many rural people of Fayette County, who seem to favor continued high government spending. This is disturbing in a locality which is regarded as conservative and level-headed.

In almost every case these people admit that the theory is wrong economically for the country but they say they do not now see how it can be stopped without causing a depression. This view makes them shudder. They are willing for a cut in expenses which will not affect them but they do not want to have their own routine disturbed.

Undoubtedly this view is typical of a great many people in all parts of the country. It shows what a profligate trend in national administration leadership in government can do to an enterprising people over a period of years, if allowed to pursue its unrestricted course.

It is rather discouraging to those who see where we are drifting to note the fact that few people show a resolute willingness to face about and put this country back in the stride which started it on the road to greatness.

It is reported out of Washington, D. C. that, in addition to outright opposition to a $6,500,000,000 cut in military appropriations by the Pentagon on the ground of military necessity, there is also an undercurrent of opposition based on the thesis that any reduction in appropriations will be bad for business.

That can be a potent argument in a country so addicted to a high standard of living as the United States—and Congress but reflects the national feeling.

However there is the point, too, that the best thinkers favor rearming to a safe point, and do not want to drag the rearming process out interminably. Big armament and preparation for war was the Hitler theory for German prosperity. It led to disaster.

It is unfortunate, but a fact, that Congress doesn't have time nor facilities to delve into military expenditures thoroughly and comb out the waste, thus achieving economy without affecting arms production. That there is plenty of waste is the testimony of all investigators.

If the nation is to be forever committed to government support of business, then there can be no tax relief. Taxes will continue to inch higher and higher, along with government power, as the spenders get a tighter grip on the purse of the nation.

The administration seems to be convinced that after arms spending tapers off prosperity must be shored up by Point Four spending in the foreign field.

But many Americans are not willing to concede that the only hope for the future is in increasing government expenditures in a trend toward a despotic and all-powerful government.

You Just Can't Mother Mother

By Hal Boyle

KANSAS CITY—(P)—Many an American mother is resting this week after the ordeal of being a mother on Mother's Day.

That is the situation in our family.

For years we have tried to mother Mom on Mother's Day. But Mom is hard to mother. She is so used to pampering her five children and two grandchildren that it is hard for her to relax and let them pamper her.

Somewhat she has got the whole idea of Mother's Day confused. To her it is a kind of test of her mettle as a parent.

Year after year the kids try to figure out a way to do something special to please her. But it always ends up with Mom doing something for us.

"Now this year we are going to take you out to dinner and celebrate," we tell her. "You never get out of that kitchen."

"Well, that'll be real nice," says Mom. And then she begins to hedge. She points out how much bother it is to go out. She is sure the restaurants will all be too crowded on Mother's Day anyway.

"I'll tell you what," she says, "I'll fry up a couple of chickens, and let's see—I guess we'll have strawberry shortcake for dessert."

And she always has her way. Come Mother's Day and she slaves harder than ever over that old hot stove. The kids sit in the dining room and stuff themselves like harvest hands while Mom brings in platter after platter of fried chicken. The only help she gets—would accept—is a little assistance later in drying the dishes.

Everybody then sits around gabbing and criticizing the government. In the evening the whole family raids the icebox together, and Mom says:

"Now, isn't this better than going out?"

She is all worn out from overworking on Mother's Day. But she has celebrated it in the way she likes best. She has had the family together in the home, and done something for them.

Most mothers are happy to receive gifts of candy and flowers from their children. Not our Mom. She gets angry. She thinks that is wasteful. The only thing we can give her is some money, and all she does with the money is to stow it away in an old sock to leave to her grandchildren.

Mom has spent her life doing things for her children, and she has never got around to the thought that maybe the children ought to start mothering her.

This year she will be 64-years old, and time and trouble have made her serene. She has no bitterness toward life. She feels sorry for young wives today.

"They have a lot more gadgets to help them do their housework," she said. "But somehow I don't believe they have the feeling of security I had when I married."

As Mom and Dad started housekeeping on $15 a week, this theory is hard for me to accept. But she says everybody worked harder and felt more secure a generation ago than they do today. And probably she is right.

Mom is the philosopher in the family. She thinks people must lead their own lives, and that it doesn't do any good to try to lead their lives for them. She gives her advice in an oblique way. I still carry in my wallet a faded newspaper clipping that Mom once mailed to me. She had underlined in ink this sentence:

"Child, child, don't you know there'll be another day?"

Judicial Checks and Balances

By George Sokolsky

President Truman's assertion of unlimited power, no longer stoutly maintained, challenged by Judge David A. Pine, is now on appeal to the United States supreme court on a writ of certiorari.

In our system of checks and balances, the executive and legislative branches of government are independent of the judicial, but the majesty of the law crowns all three who must abide by it. The issue in hand is not wages, prices, profits, steel or cigarette butts.

The issue is whether the president may function without a law.

In one of the earliest and most important cases argued before the supreme court, Chisholm v. Georgia, Justice James Wilson in 1793, only four years after the Constitution was adopted, fully stated the authority of the American nation over all men within it. This decision knocks down any theory of unlimited powers and is the first step in establishing the right of judicial review. I quote from it the applicable paragraphs:

"Whoever considers in a combined and comprehensive view the general texture of the Constitution will be satisfied that the people of the United States intended to form themselves into a nation for national purposes. They instituted for such purposes a national government, complete in all its parts, with powers legislative, executive and judiciary, and in all those powers extending over the whole nation. Is it con-gruous that, with regard to such purposes, any person, natural or artificial, should be permitted to claim successfully an entire exemption from the jurisdiction of the national government? Would not such claims, crowned with success, be repugnant to our very existence as a nation? . . .

The court decided that it possessed the power, in this particular case, to review matters between states and between a citizen and a state.

Ten years later, in 1803, Chief Justice John Marshall wrote the outstanding decision of Marbury v. Madison, which established beyond doubt the authority of the supreme court to provide judicial review where needed. He wrote:

"The judicial power of the United States is extended to all cases arising under the Constitution.

"Could it be the intention of those who gave this power to say that in using it the Constitution should not be looked into? That a case arising under the Constitution should be decided without examining the instrument under which it arises?"

"This is too extravagant to be maintained."

"In some cases, then, the Constitution must be looked into by the judges. And if they can open it at all, what part of it are they forbidden to read or to obey?"

Marshall decided:

"Thus, the particular phraseology of the Constitution of the United States confirms and strengthens the principle, supposed to be essential to all written constitutions, that a law repugnant to the Constitution is void, and that courts, as well as other departments, are bound by that instrument."

In the steel seizure case, the president has taken a step for which he has no law. In a word, he has exceeded his authority. That is the purport of Judge Pine's decision, which says:

"These (enumerated by him) are the only sections (of the Constitution) which have any possible relevancy, and their mere enumeration shows the utter fallacy of defendant's claim. "Neither singly nor in the aggregate do they grant the president, expressly or impliedly, as that term has hereinabove been defined, the 'residuum of power' or 'inherent' power which authorizes him, as defendant claims, to take such action as he may deem to be necessary, including seizure of plaintiffs' properties, whenever in his opinion an emergency exists requiring him to do so in the public interests. Instead, in Congress is lodged, within Constitutional limitations, the power 'to provide for the common defense and general welfare.' . . .

The supreme court has held that it has no general supervising power over the proceedings and actions of the various administrative departments of government. However, the court may decide on the rights of individuals (or corporations) under the Constitution. The confiscation of property and protection against executive acts unwarranted by law do properly come within the scope of the judicial power.

The unanimous decision of the supreme court last Saturday to accept jurisdiction in the appeals of the various parties to Judge Pine's decision, and the issuance of a stay forbidding the change of the status quo regarding wages, unless mutually agreed upon, of itself establishes the truth that in the United States, no official, including the president, possesses unlimited powers.

Diet and Health Hemorrhaging Ulcer Could Be Warning

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

It is not unusual for an ulcer of the stomach to bleed, even in these days of new and better discoveries for controlling ulcers. In a great majority of cases, the bleeding can be stopped without surgery.

Usually, the patient does not neglect a bleeding ulcer, and you may be sure the doctor will go into action as soon as he knows about it.

Bleeding can occur at any time with an ulcer, and may be the first symptom warning a person gets that he has one. The blood usually appears in the bowel movement, making it dark and black. The person is extremely pale and weak. He may faint or vomit up a large amount of bright red blood.

Prompt Hospitalization

Most persons with a bleeding peptic ulcer are sent to the hospital immediately, put to bed for strict rest, and checked constantly by the physician. Sedative drugs can be of great help in stopping the bleeding. Frequent blood counts are taken to check on the severity of the hemorrhage, and to find out if it is stopping.

Certain cases will require small blood transfusions to help maintain the right amount and quality of blood. Once the bleeding stops the patient is given doses of milk and cream every hour, also drugs to combat acids and spasms. The diet is then slowly increased. After five or six days without bleeding X-rays can be taken to discover the exact location of the hemorrhage.

Deferred Operation

Many times, rest and medicines will not stop the bleeding from an ulcer, and the doctor will have to consider a surgical operation. Usually, the patient is not well enough for an immediate operation, and some time is spent in building up his strength. This also gives the doctor a chance to stop the bleeding by medical treatment if possible.

In a few cases where the bleeding will not let up, an operation is required promptly. Blood transfusions are first given to replace the blood lost and to give the person the strength he needs for the operation.

With careful and diligent treatment, the person with a bleeding ulcer usually does very well.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. B.: I have extremely low blood pressure. Would it be harmful for me to drink alcoholic beverages?

Answer: If there are no symptoms from the low blood pressure and one is normal in other respects, as a rule there is no harm in consuming a limited amount of alcoholic beverages. However, this is a matter for your doctor to decide in your individual case.

Truman's Astute Political Move

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, May 12—Democratic leaders now believe that they may enter the presidential campaign with a fairly clean bill of health on the charge of coddling communists as a result of President Truman's quiet reversal of policy on an important phase of this issue.

They dismiss as inconsequential the fact that, as with Alger Hiss, he was forced into reform by Congressional critics. They count on the voters to forget certain lapses.

Without any fanfare, Truman has dealt the official Communist Party and allied front organizations a damaging thrust. He has reorganized the hitherto pinkish Subversive Activities Control Board by naming as chairman a hard-hitting legal realist in Peter Campbell Brown of Brooklyn.

Although no red-baiter, Mr. Brown had frequently dissented when his predecessors showed an amazing tolerance of the defendants' rowdy tactics at official hearings.

EFFECT — Brown follows such easy-going board chiefs as Seth W. Richardson of North Dakota and ex-Representative Charles M. La Follette of Indiana. They were apparently named by Truman in an attempt to soften or minimize the effect of the law creating this sort of Supreme Court on communist activities in the United States.

Indeed, he vetoed the original measure, only to have it passed over his objections by a large majority.

Richardson, for instance, was charged with whitewashing the Administration's part in the Pearl Harbor disaster when he served as counsel for a pitiful Hill investigating committee. He is a partner of Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia and author of the pro-Stalin book, "Mission to Moscow."

La Follette was forced out of the chairmanship because the Senate Judiciary Committee refused to approve his nomination. He once headed the liberal Democratic, Hyde Park faction known as Americans for Democratic Action.

Thus, the anti-Truman, McCarran bloc was really responsible for transformation of SACB from a partisan and ideological agency into a realistic, semi-judicial body.

PROBLEM — The scarcely known Subversive Activities Control Board currently has under consideration a problem of vital importance to the United States in peace or war.

Its decision in this matter will deeply affect our national security, if the "cold war" should flare into a global conflict in which the enemy would rely on "fifth columns" more effective even than Hitler's.

SACB must decide whether the Communist Party and kindred cliques must register as foreign agents, thus keeping the government informed of their financial resources, membership and activities. SACB passes judgment on the basis of citations supplied to it by the Department of Justice, which acts as complainant.

ADVERSE — Before his enforced resignation, Attorney General J. Howard McGrath gathered damaging evidence against these red organizations. Although the defense is still to be heard, and the "commies'" counsel, ex-Representative Vito Marcantonio of New York, says he will need two months for presentation of his case, data so far submitted points toward a decision adverse to Stalin's agents and admirers.

It is expected that they will be ordered to register.

ASSET — Since the board's ruling should be handed down before the November election in accord with usual procedure, an anti-Kremlin holding would be a valuable asset to the Democrats.

Together with the operations of Thomas F. Murphy and Judge Harold Medina in the Hiss and other trials involving alleged subversion, the incumbents and their November nominees could maintain that they had erased the red stain.

The GOP's principal countercharge, in view of the disastrous effect of our Far Eastern policies in China and Korea, would be that contrition and retribution came too late to be effective. Truman's belated actions will be characterized as a "deathbed repentance."

JUSTICE — The realistically reorganized SACB can meet needs acutely felt at the start of World War II, and which may be more demanding in the event of another global conflict.

From the standpoint of security, it will have a record that will serve as a rogues' gallery of reds. It will be a repository of information that has been sifted and analyzed. Moreover, the defendants' testimony, as always in cases of this kind, will be of great value.

Solon Favors More Judges

WASHINGTON, May 12 — (AP)—Rep. McCulloch (R-Ohio) feels an additional federal judge is needed in Northern Ohio.

However, he said he has not yet had a chance to study a compromise bill to create 16 new federal judgeships, one of them in Northern Ohio.

The bill was approved last week by a House Judiciary Subcommittee and soon will come before the full committee of which McCulloch is a member. The compromise bill replaces a measure that the House sent back to committee.

Where's That Jackrabbit Ball Today?

Major Loop Hitters Moan As 28 Shutout Tilts Are Recorded

NEW YORK, May 12—(P)—What happened to the lively ball? Like the dodo bird, it appears to have become extinct.

Remember when those pitchers were willing about too much jackrabbit in the ball? That was only two years ago. Now the hitters are doing the moaning and groaning. And with good reason.

Just look at these figures of futility on the part of the batters:

The major league season is less than a month old and 28 shutouts have been pitched. A major league hurler, who have turned in 17 whitewash jobs, have spun seven 1-0 games to equal their full-season total of 1951.

Bob Lemon of Cleveland and Alie Reynolds of the New York Yankees pitched brilliant 1-0, two-hit victories Sunday. That boosted the total of low-hit games this year to 35. Recently, Bob Feller of Cleveland, Bob Cain of the St. Louis Browns and Art Houtteman of Detroit, hurled one-outters.

ONLY FOUR homers were hit Sunday. That raised the two leagues' total to 217, exactly 70 fewer than the 287 hit last year at a corresponding date.

Lemon's two-hit victory was followed by Mike Garcia's eight-hit, 3-1 triumph. It enabled the Indians to sweep a doubleheader from the Browns and increase their American League lead to two games over runnerup Washington.

Lemon was extended to the limit as Ned Garver, Brownie ace, yielded only four hits himself. Three of them came in the last half of the ninth to furnish the only run.

Dale Mitchell's two-out single with the bases loaded broke up the mound duel.

The Indians collected only five hits off loser Cain and two relievers in the second game but made them all count for Garcia's fourth victory.

Reynolds, who hurled a no-hitter against the Red Sox last September, nearly duplicated the stunt. The only hits the Red Sox got Sunday were first-inning singles by Dom DiMaggio and Vern Stephens. Hank Bauer singled off loser Mel Parnell with one out in the fifth, advanced to second on a grounder and scored on a line single by Irv Noren.

THE SENATORS defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-3 in 11 innings of the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. Rain washed out the second tilt after two innings.

The Detroit Tigers snapped their seven-game losing streak, nipping Chicago, 2-1, after the White Sox had won the first game of the doubleheader, 6-5. Rookie George Larchen's eighth-inning single drove Johnny Lipon home from second with the winning Tiger run in the eighth.

Minnie Mino's two-run homer and strong relief pitching by Saul Rogovin, another ex-Tiger, won the opener for Chicago.

The Dodgers whittled New York's National League lead to one game, edging Philadelphia, 4-3 in 10 innings.

Joe Adcock walloped two homers and a single to lead the Cincinnati Reds to an 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Chicago split a twin bill with Pittsburgh. The Pirates, who had lost 20 of 24 starts, rallied to whip the Bruins, 11-2 after losing the opener, 8-2.

The scheduled doubleheader between the Giants and Braves in Boston was postponed (rain).

Slammin' Sammy Wins Greenbrier

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 12—(P)—There's no place like home, of course, and for Sam Snead there's no place like his home course.

Sam proved it again Sunday with a four-under-par 66 in a drenching rain to win the $1,800 first prize in the Greenbrier Open.

It was the slammer's fourth straight sub-par round and gave him a 72-hole total of 264. His 16 strokes under par were six better than the second-place effort turned in by Ed Oliver of Lemont, Ill., who pocketed $1,000.

Cold, Wet Weather Slows Golf Here, But Faithful Keep Coming

Golfers took a sound beating by the weather here last week; if they were not rained out, they were about frozen out. It just was not golfing weather, especially after the start had been made in rather balmy weather a couple of weeks ago.

But, of course, there were some of the die-hards who would not let anything interfere with their sport and there were some others who made the best of the few hours of so-so weather. Thursday afternoon, for instance, was not so bad, there was a number of the impatient and enthusiastic out.

Lion Athletes Face Busy Week

Three Ball Games And Track Meet

Three baseball games and a track meet are on the schedule for the Lion athletes of Washington C. H. High School this week.

While the baseball outfit is at London Tuesday seeking revenge for the 9 to 8 defeat handed them in the first game of the season by the Red Raiders here, the several members of the WHS track team will be at Upper Arlington for the high school meet there.

Coach Fred Pierson will chaperone the baseball team and Coach Curt Koons the track team.

The track team, which last week won the SCO League title at Wilmington, will be able to take a rest after Tuesday, but the baseballers still have two more games before the end of the week.

HILLSBORO'S Indians are to come here Wednesday afternoon to play off the game that was postponed from May 2 when the Lions played (and were nosed out 2-0 by Aquinas) in the central district tourney. No date has been set to play the game slated for Hillsboro April 15 that was postponed because of cold and rain.

Friday they are to go to Frankfort for the last game on the regular schedule.

In baseball, the Lions have given a good account of themselves except when they ran afoul of the Circleville jinx, plus a real good Tiger team.

In the track meet at Upper Arlington, the Lion thinclads (and in such weather) are to match strides with athletes from Bexley, Grandview, Upper Arlington, Westerville, Worthington, Bellefontaine, Circleville, Delaware, Mt. Vernon and Urbana.

Cobb Ranks Seventh Among Yonkers Drivers

Eddie Cobb, Washington C. H. owner, trainer and driver, for the period of April 15 to May 8 ranks seventh among the leading drivers at Yonkers Raceway.

Out of 25 starts Cobb has won four races, finished second three times and was third once.

Racing silks originated in England in 1762 at Newmarket. The original registry listed 17 sets of colors. Today the American Jockey Club has a listing of 1,759 sets of colors.

Redlegs Happy After Tour Of Cardinal Park

ST. LOUIS, May 12—(P)—At least two members of the Cincinnati Reds—Joe Adcock and Bob Borkowski—probably hated it because they had to leave the very pleasant confines of St. Louis' Sportsman's Park.

The Reds closed out a three-game series Sunday by taking an 8 to 5 decision from the Cards and Borkowski and Adcock had themselves a merry time with Cardinal pitching.

Borkowski got two hits in two times to give him a string of five consecutive safe blows. Adcock was even rougher on the Cardinal hurlers. He clubbed them for two homers and a single.

The Reds were headed for New York where they'll open a swing around the eastern half of the circuit by meeting the Giants Tuesday night.

Harry Perkowski went the route Sunday for the first time as he marked up his third victory as against one defeat.

HE LIMITED the Cardinals to eight hits and never was in any great danger after his mates picked up five runs in the middle three innings of the game.

The first of Adcock's homers was a blow into the centerfield bleachers in the second. The other came in the fourth and it was an inside-the-park wallop. The last one tied the score and the Reds got two more in the fifth on a walk to Roy McMillan, a double by Grady Hatton and a single by Bobby Adams.

The Rhinelanders put the game out of St. Louis' reach in the sixth with another pair of runs on Borkowski's double, Joe Rossi's infield hit, a passed ball and McMillan's single.

Lemon Forced To Ninth For Sunday Win

CLEVELAND, May 12—(P)—Joking, easy-going Bob Lemon won't crack under the strain, but his Cleveland Indian team mates are making his victories come the hard way this season.

When Lemon blanked the St. Louis Browns 1-0 on a two-hitter in the opener of Sunday's double header, it was the fifth game in which the Tribe has scored no more than one run for him.

The victory was important, too, for it was the first this year over the Browns who had beaten Cleveland three straight. The Indians took the nightcap 3-1 to boost their hold on first place to two games.

70 at Broadmoor Sunday. She tackled this 69 onto an even 70 of the day before and the 139 total was good for first place in the Seattle leg of the Cross-Country Weather-vane Open tournament.

Lemon and Ned Garver put on a red-hot pitching duel for 27,726 customers in the Stadium. Each had a one-hit shutout going into the tense final inning. Clint Courtney singled off Lemon in the fifth, and Harry Simpson singled off Garver in the sixth.

The nightcap had none of the first game's suspense. Mike Garcia chalked up his fourth victory by scattering eight hits, and the Tribe pecked away at three Brownie hurlers for five. But St. Louis got 14 men to first base, left 12 stranded.

"TEXAS EASTERN ADDS DAILY TO THE WELFARE OF OUR CITY" WEEKLY EDITOR REPORTS AFTER SURVEY

Mutual Good Will and Economic Return Cited As Primary Factors in Relations of Company and Typical Community Near Pipelines

"From the time Ed Deiselberg, local manager of Public Service Company of Indiana, deposits in the First National Bank here a Texas Eastern check running $45,000 for a month's electric power, until Jake Parsons buys that big sackful of groceries at one of our fine stores, the Company and its employees are adding daily to the welfare of our city," Robert Kelley, editor of the Batesville (Indiana) Herald-Tribune, reports.

Editor Kelley says that his survey shows that two main factors affect community-company relations: (1) mutual good will, and (2) economic return.

"The good will existing between Texas Eastern and the people of Batesville is the kind that makes good neighbors out of industry and people," Kelley reports. "It comes from the feeling created by Texas Eastern people who make Batesville their home and are proud of being both an employee of their company and a member of our community."

"Texas Eastern contributes the second factor, economic return, in the form of local payrolls and purchases, which bring income to Batesville," Kelley says. "In addition, taxes paid locally by the transmission company benefit the entire county."

Batesville, a southern Indiana community celebrating its 100th anniversary this summer, is typical of many smaller towns and cities near the Texas Eastern pipelines.

DAILY PURCHASES OF GROCERIES and other supplies by Texas Eastern people help Batesville, Editor Kelley finds. Here Donald Dickey and wife Catherine check their purchases with friendly Jean Hoene at Kroger's grocery.

TEXAS EASTERN COMPANY CARS and trucks are serviced and fueled at local gas stations from Texas to New York. In Batesville, Editor Kelley finds Donald Gramman (right) checking the oil for Texas Easterner Ott Dorris.

EMPLOYEE SAVINGS are handled by local banks. Here Texas Easterner Lloyd Steinfurt, with his wife and son, deposits funds with teller Kathryn Giltz of Batesville's First National Bank.

EDITOR ROBERT KELLEY (right) checks with station manager Ralph Terrell on Texas Eastern payment of local property and school taxes, and on the number of company people who take part in Batesville civic and social affairs.

Missionaries Persecuted By Chinese Reds

NEW YORK, May 12.—The worst mass persecution of American missionaries in our history now is going on in Communist China, church leaders report.

They gave this statistical picture:

- 32 American missionaries in prison.
- 25 under house arrest.
- 136 others restricted in their movements, prevented from leaving the country, and subject to criminal accusations and attacks.
- "Their situation has become extremely grave," said Dr. Wallace C. Merwin, head of the China Committee of the Foreign Missions Division of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA.
- Both Roman Catholic and Protestant leaders said never in any land has there been such widespread, official persecution of American missionaries since the first ones went out nearly 150 years ago.

charges by the eight merchants, ranging from $27.94 to $1,111.66.

Martin F. Burnham, OPS district enforcement officer, said he planned no criminal action. He said civil action seeking damages will be filed later.

Harry A. Nation, executive secretary of the Columbus Retail Grocers Association, said that grocers could not purchase potatoes unless they paid money "under the table."

He said he didn't blame the wholesalers, however. He said they, too, had to pay from $300 to $500 a carload extra to get potatoes from suppliers.

Individual commission merchants said the potato shortage stems from an April 8 OPS order, which prohibits wholesalers from selling any type of potatoes to grocers and restaurant men. There are plenty of seed potatoes, they said, but their higher price keeps them from being sold to grocers at table potato ceilings.

Although wood charcoal is about a quarter of the weight of the wood from which it is derived, it has about two-thirds of the bulk of the wood.

Mother's day gives us all a chance to show a little appreciation for a big job. Through the years a lot has been done to make Mom's work easier around the old family plantation... but she still has the age old problem of getting the meals on the table for her family, of keeping Pop in clean shirts, reducing the number of holes in Johnnie's socks, and having Mary's dress ready for the school party. She is nurse, secretary, interior decorator, counselor, purchasing agent, and many other things, along with her regular tasks. Most of the time she doesn't expect thanks... but she'll feel better if you don't forget her one big day.

Then after she has raised a large family and they're all married and have families of their own I'm afraid that in the bustle and bustle of raising our kids we sometimes unconsciously neglect mother.

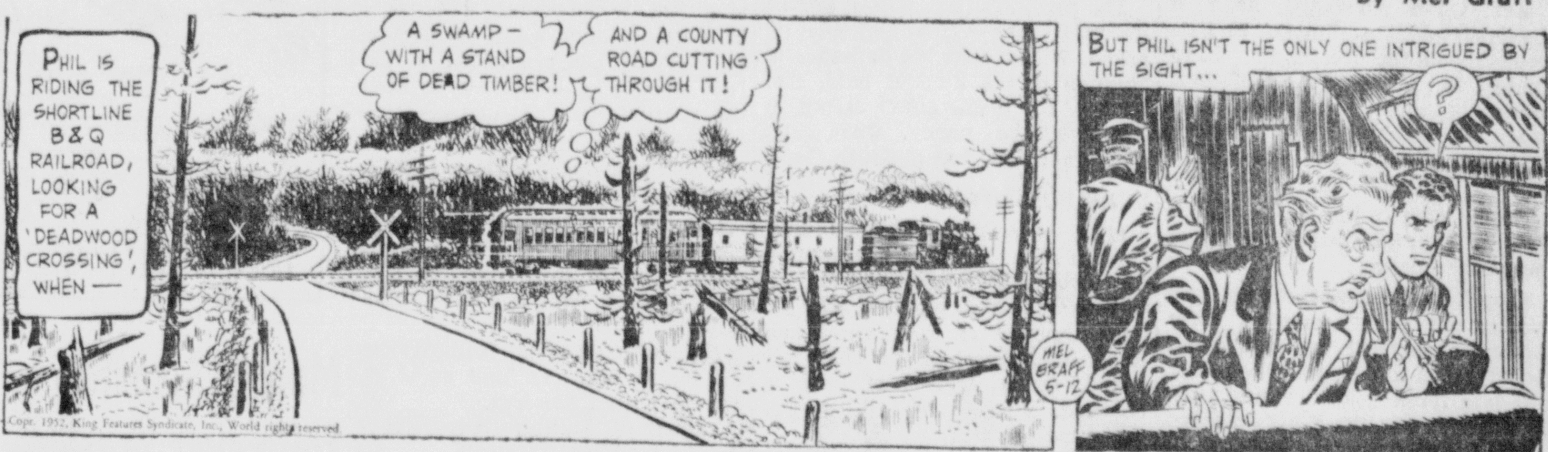

Take an afternoon off every now and then and visit with her or if she lives too far away write regularly. Just dropping in to say "hello Mom," makes her happier than anything else in the world. Make Mother's Day come often for her this year, you'll be happier by doing so.

Home Ec. Girls To Have Review

Double Feature
Tuesday Night

A style review and musical program is to be put on Tuesday night in the auditorium by the girls of the home economics department of Washington C. H. High School.

Mrs. Olive Woodyard, head of the department, said about 70 girls would model the dresses they have made this year as a part of their course in home economics. They range all the way from sun dresses to beach coats and "dress up" dresses, she explained.

Taking part in the revue will be students from the freshman through the senior classes.

They have been working on their dresses all year; some of them started early last fall and completed them before cold weather and laid them aside for just such an occasion as this. Others did not finish theirs until this spring.

THE SENIOR members of the Future Homemakers of America club at WHS also are to be given recognition for their achievements during their four high school years. They are to be introduced from the stage across which the models are to parade while showing their dresses and be presented with small gifts, sort of going away tokens of remembrance for their graduation later this month.

Membership in the Future Homemakers club is open to all girls in the department but is voluntary, Mrs. Woodyard explained. About half of the girls majoring in the course belong to the club.

The style review is to be staged against a musical background, mostly provided by records, but this is not considered a part of the musical program that makes up the double feature for Tuesday night.

The music program, Mrs. Woodyard said, would consist of about 10 numbers and include both vocal and instrumental numbers.

A representative from each class is to introduce the girls as they come on the stage to model their dresses and then describe the technique used and the material of each dress.

The review and musical are open to the public without charge.

Pupils of Chaffin Spend Day on Tour

More than 50 boys and girls from the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades of Chaffin School spent most of Monday getting an inside view of some of the places of business in Washington C. H.

They were accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Frank Dawson and J. Paul Strevey.

They came first to the Record-Herald where they were taken through the business office, the news room and the mechanical departments where the different operations that go into the making of a newspaper were explained.

From there they went next door to the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. to see how soft drinks are bottled and distributed.

Then they climbed back into the bus that brought them into town and went out on Leesburg Avenue to see milk processed and bottled at the Med-O-Pure Dairy. The operations there was something that had special interest for them, because most of the pupils are from farm homes where cows and milking are a part of daily life.

Last stop on the regular schedule was the Pennington Bakery. There they were shown a loaf of bread in the making, from the flour through the ovens to the slicing and wrapping. The doughnuts caught their eye, and they got to sample some, too.

The youngsters brought their lunches with them so their excursion would not be interrupted by a trip back to school at noon. Tentative plans for a picnic were spoiled by the cold wet weather.

Tuesday, Strevey is going to take the seventh and eighth grade pupils to Anderson's Drive In Restaurant for breakfast at 10:30 A. M. This is a "Dutch treat" party, with each pupil paying for his own.

Jasper Pupils To Put on Show For Cancer Fund

Boys and girls of the Jasper School at Milledgeville have become so interested in the campaign to raise funds for the Cancer Society to fight the malady, that they are going to put on a variety show.

It was all their own idea; they even got the whole show planned before they put the proposition to their parents and teachers. Once they had things started, the parents and teachers agreed to come in and help them put it on.

The program is still a little vague, but one of the parents said the youngsters had tentatively arranged for 23 acts. Some of these, however, probably will be combined to keep the entertainment within reasonable time limits.

On the program, it was said, will be just about everything from tap dancing and baton twirling to vocal and piano numbers. Not even the parents knew just what would be included in the show.

One of the teachers said "the children are so interested in this and in raising money to help fight cancer that we all hope there will be a capacity crowd."

The admission has been set—the pupils figured that out too—at 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

Mercury Tumbles To Near Freezing

With an official reading of 36 degrees for the low point Sunday night, there was light frost in some places in the county.

The unseasonably cold weather is scheduled to continue over Monday night.

Farmers who planted corn several days ago, are concerned over the cold, wet weather as it may cause the corn to spoil before the grain can germinate.

Rainfall during the 24 hours ending at 8 A. M. Monday reached .34 of an inch.
